NOTE: This is the source we used to gather the information for this specific property for the inventory. You will find that there are different sources, such as the TDHCA Vacancy Clearinghouse, USDA, etc. and that each source will look different and provide different information. These sources may contain information that has been updated since we put together our inventory. We have not found a good source of information on current availability/vacancies. The TDHCA website does contain information on vacancies, but note that this information is only updated about every 90 days while availability changes on a day to day basis.

Multifamily Housing Program Descriptions

Housing Tax Credit Programs

The TDHCA Housing Tax Credit (HTC) Program is one of the primary means of directing private capital toward the development and preservation of affordable rental housing for low-income households. Tax credits are awarded to eligible participants to offset a portion of their federal tax liability in exchange for the production or preservation of affordable rental housing. There are two types of Tax Credits: Competitive \(9%\) and Non-Competitive \(4%\).

Multifamily Bond Program

The Multifamily Bond Program issues taxable and tax-exempt mortgage revenue bonds (MRBs) to fund loans to nonprofit and for-profit developers. The proceeds of the bonds are used to finance the construction, acquisition, or rehabilitation of multifamily properties, with the targeted beneficiaries being low income households. Property owners are also required to offer a variety of services to benefit the residents of the development. Specific tenant programs must be designed to meet the needs of the current tenant profile and must be approved annually by TDHCA.

Multifamily HOME Program

The HOME Multifamily Development Program provides funding to Public Housing Authorities, nonprofits, and for profit entities for the new construction or rehabilitation of affordable multifamily rental developments. Funding is provided in the form of low interest bearing, repayable loans. Multifamily developments carry long-term rent and income restrictions and may be layered with additional funding sources (such as Housing Tax Credits). Development funds are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis through an application submitted under the published Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA).

You may find some of the information on the program descriptions websites helpful, but in most cases they are targeted for people who may be looking for the funding to develop affordable housing and not to explain how the program will help consumers. We added these links hopeful that they would be helpful to some people, but knowing that they may be confusing to others.

You will find that these additional pages will work similar to the Affordable Housing page described in previous slides. The pages with fewer lines of information may not be set up with filters that would allow you to drill down or sort the information. Please note that some of these pages are still under constructions and that although we would like this to be a comprehensive resource, we understand it is not and that there are constant changes which taking place that will make some of this information inaccurate.

We hope you find this resource valuable! If you find that there is information that is missing or incorrect or know of additional information that would be helpful, please send us an email using the contact information on the next slide. We will look into the possibility of adding this information in future updates.

This project is funded by the Texas Department of Aging and Disability Services through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' Money Follows the Person Grant. Money Follows the Person promotes community-based services and supports as alternatives to institutional living.
